

Reading Your Soul Through A Numerology Chart

Numbers exist as concepts and mystically represent the feminine, formless, and infinite aspects of life itself. Words & language are the creative masculine expression of the universe. Each letter of an alphabet can be reduced to a number. This is the science of Gematria, each letter holding a numerical essence. The Greek philosopher Pythagoras taught the soul is an eternal, self moving number which passes from body to body ~ the universe was created & is guided by a divine plan consisting of numbers & numerical relations... these numbers being superior to matter & independent of it ~ & that the study of numbers & music lead to personal perfection.

Music & Numbers

Think about your life as interconnected with infinite life vibrating & singing in colorful hues. We are so much more than what the five senses provide in third dimensional reality. As we go deeper into the metaphysical through the gateway of sound or music newfound greatness within our soul is revealed.

Pythagoras taught that each of the seven planets produced by its orbit a particular note according to its distance from the still centre which was the Earth. The distance in each case was like the subdivisions of the string referred to above. This is what was called the Musica Mundana, which is usually translated as Music of the Spheres. The sound produced is so exquisite and rarified that our ordinary ears are unable to hear it. It is the Cosmic Music which, according to Philo of Alexandria, Moses had heard when he received the Tablets on Mount Sinai, and which St. Augustine believed men hear on the point of death, revealing to them the highest reality of the Cosmos. This music is present everywhere and governs all temporal cycles, such as the seasons, biological cycles, and all the rhythms of nature. Together with its underlying mathematical laws of proportion it is the sound of the harmony of the created being of the universe, the harmony of what Plato called the “one visible living being, containing within itself all living beings of the same natural order”.

I suggest you read your numerology chart as your own adventure novel in the abstract.
Your soul provides essences & curves so there are no limits to your expression.
These numerical essences hold great keys to your now moment & destiny.
By embracing each aspect fully you allow it into greater expression.

Upon reading anything you perceive as challenging, I urge you not to resist it.
Bring the challenges into awareness, feel them, allow the challenges space to be recognized & honored. The universe is conspiring toward your absolute greatness at all times. Allow this love & perfection in as you meet the challenges with an open heart.
Your soul is guiding you through numerous transformations in your life.
The process can be easy & filled with joy.

Anything when experienced fully is Joy

Most often in reading this chart feelings permeate of Yes! This Is Me! Right On!

This is a sign you are living in the light of your soul, aware of the bigger picture & your life purpose.

Your essence through the abstract of numbers is a guide to living authentically in the center of the universe.

Manifestation & abundance work best when we become living expressions of our authentic selves. This way our desires become doubt free & our manifestations are delivered to the right address
